POLICE KEEP UP THE GOOD WORK

THE NOTORIOUS "DOC" BLISS AND OTHER CRIM-INALS NOW BEHIND PRICON-BARS.

Inspector McLaughlin and his detectives yesterday continued the good work which they began on Saturday night in the raid on Charles Williams's den of thieves, at No. 428 Sixth-ave., by the capture of five more of the gang. Two of the prisoners are women. When the twelve prisoners captured on Saturday night had been safely lodged in Police Headquarters, the Inspector instructed Detective-Sergeants Armstrong and Dowling to keep watch on the house and arrest any one who might enter Williams's rooms.

The Inspector had particular regard for "Doc" Bliss, one of the most dangerous and most successful sneak thieves in the country, and the detectives were told to use every possible effort to get him. Shortly before midnight there appeared on the scene no less a person than Frank Livingston, better known as "Sheeny Frank," who has served several terms in Sing Sing and other prisons, and occupies a prominent niche in Superintendent Byrnes's gallery of fame. He had no stolen property with him, but merely wanted to pay a little professional courtesy to Williams, whom he and other "crooks" know as James Seaton. Having sent Mr. Livingston under safe uard to Police Headquarters, Armstrong and Dowling about 1 o'clock started on a "still hunt" for Bliss, leaving other detectives on the watch at Williams's house. Sarah E. Byrne, the physician's widow with whom Bliss had lived at No. 823 Park-ave., and who was one of those seized on Saturday night, had given a false address. Armstrong and Dowling, however, quickly found her flat at No. 823 Park-ave., and at 3 o'clock in the morning were rewarded with The sight of their quarry comfortably muffled in an ulster, cigar in hand, and placidly strolling into the flat, blissfully unconscious of the fate that had overtaken his When Armstrong and Dowling ran after him up the steps of the house and asked him to resources of the Collegiate Church, at Forty-eighth at. take a walk to Mulberry-st, he showed no astonishment, and took his arrest with accustomed

Yesterday, at the Tombs Police Court, Inspector McLaughlin applied to Justice Grady for a remand in order that he might be able to secure evidence regarding the ownership of stolen proprty. The examination.

David Bliss, or "Doe" Bliss, as the criminal world knows him, is a man of fine attainments who long ago disgraced the old Southern family from which he came, and adopted a life of degradation. His particular department of professional work is sneak robbery, in which he is probably unequalled. He was once a physician in good practice and was graduated from a medical college in Cincinnati. But he was a thief by instinct and by taste, and having been driven out of the city in which he had started practice as a physician, made requery the sele occupation

It is adroitness has in nearly all cases more than outmatched the police, although he has served two terms in prison. In December, 1880, he was arrested in company with Matthew Lane, at the Fall River pier, while leaving the steamer Providence, which had just arrived from Boston. In a small value Biss carried silverware to the value of $2,500, the proceeds of several flat rebberies in Boston. Having been taken back to Boston the partners received a ten-year term. Biss's most notable achievement was, perhaps, the theft in May, 1883, of $25,000 in bonds and stocks from an office at No. 757 Broadway. On his way downstairs with the bag containing the stocks, he stepped into a room on the lower floor and helped himself to $100 in bills which were lying on a desk. In this case, also, he was sent to prison for two years.

Any one entering Inspector McLaughlin's room at Police Headquarters just now would imagine that the Inspector had opened a general merchandise store. Strewn over the chairs and about the room were three photographic lenses worth each $100; opera glasses, a full set of burglar's tools, two rolls of dress goods, a bronze sphinx, carriage robes, three umbrelias, a dress, silk handkerchiefs, silver-headed canes, lawn tennis shirts, tableware, a box containing cameos and amethysts, a roll of black silk, lace curtains, and a set of burglar's saws. All these things were found in Williams's rooms, and all, excepting the professional tools, await the arrival of their owners.

A letter found in the drawer of Williams's writing desk, was as follows: Charile-We are dead broke and just got this (sup-posed stolen property). Send us $10 for this, and by telegraph, that we may get it right away. Address II. Freeman, No. 1 Lovering Place, Boston.

In course of time The gift made him happy, and he worked all the harder to provide for them. In another year another pair of twins were added to the family. The husband was fond of children, but his means were small, therefore he began to grow troubled. At the end of two years more Juliano presented him with another pair of twins. Hans got up earlier and worked harder to provide food for the enlarged family. He began to be sorely troubled, and the outlook was not bright when in due time Mrs. Sorensen varied the routine of astonishing her busband with twins by giving birth to a single child. Eighteen months later, however, another pair of twins greeted the husband and father, who had to scratch from morn to night so that his rapidly increasing family could have food and cloth ing. Hans decided that he could not get nlong that may, and so came to America to better his fortunes, and send for his family when he should have money enough. He went to work for an uncle on a farm out in Wisconsin, and began to save his money and send it to his family. Two months ago his uncle died, and left him the farm, which is a good-sized one. He sent for his family, and has no further dread of twins.

EXERCISES OF THE COLLEGIATE REPORMED CHUECH IN WEST END-AVE.

The dedicatory exercises of the new Collegiate Reformed Church, at Seventy-seventh-st. and West Endwere held yesterday afternoon. The Rev. Dr. T. W. Chambers presided. The exercises were begun at 4 o'clock with the singing of "Let Saints Below in Concert Sing." After the anthem the Rev. Dr. Chambers delivered the invocation and the salutation. The psalter was read by the Rev. Dr. Edward B. Coe and the people, responsively. The Rev. Dr. David, J. Eurrell read the lesson from the Old Testaread by the Rev. The citizens of Plainfield, N. J., gave a Republican majority of between 400 and 500 votes in the recent Presidential election. The full city vote was brought out on November 8, and the Democrats were much dismayed at the strength shown by their opponents. It will be folly for them to nominate a Democratic city ticket, and the party leaders are said to be in favor of allowing the Republicans to carry their ticket without opposition. ORANGE.

HUNTERS FIGHT A WILDCAT.

Felix Magee and Joseph Stopford, two West Orange nunters, had an exciting fight with a wildcat on Friday afternoon, near Swinefield Bridge, over the head waters of the Passale River. They found the brack near the bridge as they were out hunting. Mages took aim at the cat, but his gun missed fire. With a growt the wildcat sprang at him and landed on 11shoulders, biting and scratching flercely. Sopfad tried to shoot the beast, but could not get a chance without danger of shooting his companion. Mage struggled with the animal and finally shook it off, when a well-directed shot from Stopford killed It. Makee's arm and shoulder were hadly lacerat d. The carcass of the wildcat was taken to Orange, where it was measured, and found to be four feet from tip to tip. It weighed thirty pounds.

THE COMMON COUNCIL QUESTION.

The fear that the acts of the Orange Common Council would be declared illegal on account of the decision of the Supreme Court declaring the law unconstituthree to two from each ward, has been set at rest by the opinion of eminent legal authorities to the effect that the acts of the council, done in obedience to the ward been declared unconstitutional. The future course of the council is a matter of question. Some special election to fill the representation from wards, while others hold that no action should be taken till the regular charter election in May. Under the operation of the Marsh law, which requires that wherever 1,000 votes are east in any ward in ciles of the second class, the ward shall be divided or ex-be entitled to a double representation in the cam it the First, Third and Fourth Wards of Orange will have to be divided. This will give a council of twenty-five members, which is a large number for a city of less than 20,000 inhabitants.

PUSHING WORK ON THE OUTLET SEWER.

The outlet section of the Orange sewer system brough the city of Newark to the Passaic River, i being pushed to the utmost, to have it completed before the Legislature meets in January. The Board loophole in the law under which the City of Orange is building the seer, and has now a bill prepared passed, would prevent the city of Orange from making connections with the Passaic River. At present it looks as though the centractors would complete the outlet sewer and have it in readiness for use before the meebe powerless to stop the use of it. The remedy that the Reard of Public Works would then fall back upon would be the enjoining of the city of Grange from the pollution of the Passale. In view of the fact that all the Newark sewers empty directly into the river, it is not thought that this attempt would be successful.

on his wife at Paterson Saturday night. Campbell is a silk dyer, employed by Banford Brothers. He came home late in the night, after an absence of several weeks, and gained an entrance to the house. He then began abusing his wife. She was in the kitchen, and a lighted kerosene lamp stood upon the table. Campbell deliberately walked across the room, and picking up the lamp, threw it at his wife with all his force. The lamp struck the woman on the back of the neck and burst, and a second later she was a mass of flame. The brutal husband then ran out of the hollse. People passing saw the light, the fur-niture having become ignited, and rushed into the house. They succeeded, with considerable difficulty, in putling out the fire.
